Background

In 1990 the U.S. Department of Labor commissioned a study, the Secretary’s Commission on Achieving Necessary Skills (SCANS), to identify the skills that American workers needed for job success in a global market. The competencies and foundation skills that resulted from the SCANS study were intended to set the agenda for what students are taught in the nation’s schools and how workers are trained and retrained for the high-skill, high-wage jobs of the future. The South Bay Workforce Investment Board Youth Council convened nearly 100 employers, educators and training organizations to identify standards for the SCANS skills that would be relevant to Youth and employers in 2004. Unlike many national skill standards initiatives, this unique effort focuses on employer initiated pre-employment training for youth job seekers and workers.

From this effort a curriculum was created called the “Blueprint for Workplace Success”, This innovative curriculum was created:

- With skill standards necessary for youth workplace success.
- To achieve improved, more relevant training and employment outcomes for youth.
- To connect what is being taught in the classroom with what is required in the workplace.

What is the Blueprint for Workplace Success curriculum?

- Blueprint for Workplace Success is a pre-employment training program created by the South Bay Workforce Investment Board Youth Council to prepare youth to be productive learners and earners in the workplace.

- The curriculum consists of an Instructor’s Guide and Student Workbook.

- The activities equip students with job seeking and job keeping skills in order to manage their own search for employment.

- It also provides the knowledge to perform well on the job while attending additional education and skill training programs.

- The curriculum is designed for youth aged 15 to 21. Youth receive 30 hours of training.

- The curriculum has pre and post tests that validate skill attainment and provide the framework for certification.
What are the benefits of participating in the Blueprint for Workplace Success?

_Schools and training organizations will_ have regional world-class standards and supports through which they can recruit, prepare and retain students in learning-rich workplace training.

_Students will_ have the skills needed to be productive learners and earners in the workplace and they will understand the relationship between what is taught in the classroom and what is required in the workplace.

_Employers will_ have an increased supply of student workers with the skills and qualities needed to be an asset to the company and a qualified future employee.

_Parents will_ see an increase in their child’s motivation to learn and excel and in their maturity toward becoming a self-sustaining adult.

_One-Stop Career Centers will_ have a certificate-based occupational training program through which youth can build employment skills and achieve a positive outcome.

Blueprint for Workplace Success Curriculum assists Youth in the interactive process of taking their natural talents, interests, abilities and skills, and tapping into their personal motivation and confidence to take the leadership role in creating their future. This highly interactive and powerful resource includes ideas, tools, strategies and fun interactive activities that are designed to be the blueprints to help Youth develop the workplace skills that employers are seeking.

Each participant of the program will follow the Blueprint for Workplace Success plan to:

Self Discovery
Self-understanding is the underlying basis for participants to discover and explore their inherent values and abilities. By making wise choices and taking responsibility for the outcome desired, participants will learn how their interest, abilities, and skills can transfer to work opportunities.

Managing Time Effectively
Participants learn how to focus on priority tasks, keep track of time, and set reasonable and attainable goals.

Understanding Workplace Skills for Today’s Employee
Participants learn what employers are looking for by assessing their own qualities and skills as they relate to the SCAN competencies.

Facing Realities of the Job Market
Participants come face-to-face with a test of the realities of the job market. How much do they already know…how much do they need to learn? The results will enhance their employability skills.

Learning How to Use Effective Communication
Participants learn that what they say and how they act can either open doors to opportunities or close them. Learning how to listen and use effective verbal and non-verbal communication are the critical tools for success!
Gaining Skills and Knowledge for Contacting Employers
Participants learn that there is a whole strategy for contacting employers, and if they do it right the interviews will follow. They will also learn how to obtain the documents required for employment (i.e. social security card, I-9, state identification, drivers license, educational records, etc.).

Preparing with Confidence for the Job Interview
At this point, participants learn how to take control of the job interview and impress the interviewer.

Getting Hired and Learning about Workplace Issues and Paperwork
Once the participant is hired, it's a good thing to know about rights and responsibilities in the workplace.

Learning How to Manage Money
Participants learn how to understand the details of a paycheck and manage their money to enable them to make more choices towards attaining life goals.

Learning How to Keep the Job
Knowing what it takes for keeping a job will reduce the likelihood of being fired...and may increase the opportunities for advancement. The participants learn that the process of seeking employment is a life long journey!
